

“Restoration of Internet Freedom”

Removing Net Neutrality will be disastrous for small business but a boon for big employer, Verizon. It is hugely important to ensure the internet is open and other infrastructural service providers so that Americans have equal access to it. It's a misnomer that this act is called: the restoration of internet freedom. It's to the opposite practice: with companies like Comcast dictating what service is provided based on the ability to pay. It will absolutely harm small companies while entrenching large companies and their ability to monopolize internet access. It will directly harm the US economy and make us less competitive in the global market.
